Good Health Group Plan
Special Broadcast Today

Special To The Press
Feb. 1 — A noon noon special, sponsored by the Good Health Group, Inc., is being broadcast in Wilmington on radio Stations WWAY, WQW, and WPIL, beginning at 11:30 a.m. The broadcast will feature Dr. John F. Gardner, of New York, discussing health problems and providing information about the Good Health Group Plan.

The broadcast is designed to provide valuable information to the public about maintaining good health and the benefits of the Good Health Group Plan. It is open to all listeners and will provide guidance on how to stay healthy and avoid common health issues. The broadcast will air on WWAY, WQW, and WPIL from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Recruiting Head Arrives in City

Air Force Veteran Takes Over Army Office in Post Office

First Lt. Charles J. Marks arrived in Wilmington to assume command of the U.S. Army Recruiting Station in the Post Office building.

Marks, a native of New York City, is a veteran of the Army and has served in various capacities during his service. He will be in charge of the station, responsible for recruiting new members into the Army.

His appointment comes as the nation prepares for the annual draft, which is expected to have a significant impact on the local community. Marks' arrival is a welcome addition to the station, which is responsible for enrolling new recruits into the Army.
